Innovative Technology
That Advances Patient Care

ADVANCE
REGISTRATION
DEADLINE IS
SEPTEMBER 6, 2018

Jointly provided by the Congress of Neurological Surgeons and the AANS/CNS Section on Tumors

American Association of Neurological Surgeons

DEAR COLLEAGUE,

We are excited to invite you to Houston, Texas, October 5–6, for the 14th Biennial Tumor Section Satellite Symposium, which immediately precedes the 2018 CNS Annual Meeting. Our meeting theme this year is CNS Tumors: Innovative Technology that Advances Patient Care.

Join us at this two-day event for engaging scientific sessions that explore technological advances in CNS tumor care and how these innovations are impacting the care of tumor patients in the operating room and beyond. Stay on top of immune-based therapies for CNS tumors, and discover how big data and artificial intelligence can be leveraged to improve patient care.

Breakout Sessions for residents, fellows, and young attendings address topics such as starting a lab, clinical trials for beginners, and what to do after residency. Be sure to catch the best original science with four select oral abstract presentations and discussions. We're also pleased to offer industry-sponsored breakfast and lunch symposiums that will provide more opportunities for learning.

We are thrilled to welcome our 2018 Keynote Speaker, NASA Astronaut G. Reid Wiseman, who spent nearly six months on the International Space Station in 2014.

The 31st Anniversary Gala takes place on Friday evening at the luxurious Four Seasons Hotel Houston, and is the perfect setting to mingle with colleagues and friends. The Tumor Section's Career Awards will be presented for: distinguished service (The Mark Rosenblum Distinguished Service Award), career accomplishments (The Charles B. Wilson Award), and mentoring (The Andrew T. Parsa Mentorship Award), along with certificates for best oral and poster presentations from the open abstract sessions during the day.

On Saturday afternoon, the program will transition into the Sawaya Symposium honoring the career of Raymond Sawaya, MD, who chaired the neurosurgery department at MD Anderson since its establishment in 1990 through this year. The Biennial Tumor Section Satellite Symposium takes place at the Marriott Marquis Hotel in the heart of downtown Houston, Texas. Take time to explore Discovery Green Park, the city's largest green space, right outside the doors of the hotel. You'll also want to visit the nearby Museum District and get the best view in Houston from the JP Morgan Chase Tower Observation Deck.

We encourage you to stay for the 2018 CNS Annual Meeting, October 6–10, for more education and networking with colleagues. When you register for both meetings together, you will receive an automatic $100 off your CNS Annual Meeting registration.

We can't wait to see you in Houston!

Sincerely,

who should attend

Tumor neurological surgeons, residents, fellows, medical students, nurse clinicians, and physician assistants are welcome and encouraged to attend the Tumor Section Satellite Symposium. Educational sessions are directed toward these audiences and directly apply to their practices.

symposium description:

This symposium will explore technological advances in CNS tumor care and how these innovations are impacting the care of tumor patients in the operating room and beyond. It will identify immune-based therapies for CNS tumors, and how big data and artificial intelligence can improve patient care.

MEETING LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Upon completion of this symposium, participants will be able to:

- Discuss advancements in technology, brain tumor treatments, and relevance to outcome
- Develop innovative treatment strategies for patients with brain tumors at diagnosis and recurrence
- Discuss emerging surgical, medical, radiation, and immunotherapy treatments to achieve the best outcome
- Recognize new opportunities for computation, artificial intelligence, and big data to impact brain tumor patient care

ACCREDITATION STATEMENT

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the accreditation requirements and policies of the Accreditation Council of Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint providership of the Congress of Neurological Surgeons and the Tumor Section. The CNS is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

AMA CREDIT DESIGNATION STATEMENT:

The CNS designates this live activity for a maximum of 13.25 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

mid-level practitioners:

Attendees will receive a certificate of attendance. Please contact your individual membership association and certification board to determine the requirements for accepting credits.
